Family Of Soldier Thankful

The best possible news that parents of a son serving in Viet Nam can hear arrived on Thanksgiving in the Arlington Heights home of the Edward J. Mills family, 402 W. Campbell.

The family was celebrating a turkey dinner when the late phone rang. On the other end of the line was Mills' son, Charles A. Mills, 23, who has been serving in Viet Nam for the past year.

"I couldn't believe it," said Myrtle Mills, Charles' mother. "He was in Vietnam, just arrived at Travis Air Force Base from Viet Nam."

FAMILY members, who include five other children, rushed to extension telephones to get in on the conversation Mrs. Mills said.

Airman 1/c Mills, who served with the Aerial Medical Evacuation Squadron based at Quinhon, said his mother told him he probably would be home this week. He entered the Air Force more than three and a half years ago.

Charles plans to enter college in January, his mother said.

Officials Probe Plane Crash

By BILL PETERSON

Rolling Meadows police and federal aviation officials probed the crash Monday night near Tollview Rd., yesterday searching for clues in the Saturday crash of a single-engine plane in which the pilot was killed.

De Wilbert G. Gordon, 44, a Chicago dentist, died when his Beechcraft Bonanza nose-dived into the fog-shrouded ground, burying deep into a mud embankment about five miles from O'Hare Field.

Yesterday Rolling Meadows police and police works officials dug the plane's engine from its nest of mud. They turned the engine and other parts of the plane over to Civil Aeronautics Board officials who are investigating the crash.

"I was startled like it was going to die, then it veered up. Then it stalled and I heard a crash," he said.

"It was loud and I knew it was done."

Smith found the plane moments later in an underdeveloped Newport St., just off Tollview Rd. The location is near Algonquin Rd., about 150 yards from the Northwest Tollway on the south side of the highway.

CAN officials were unwilling to make any statement about the crash but said they will study the engine and what remains of the maroon paint and fuselage in hopes of determining what happened.

SMITH said the plane apparently hit the ground at about 60-degree angle. Parts of the plane were thrown across the roadway into a field.

Lt. Ralph E. Smith said the plane did not burn into flames, although its fuel tank was not empty.

He said that although many of the cockpit could have crashed, the crash, the revolving sound which Smith heard may have resulted from a stalled engine or an attempt to climb.

O'Hare airport officials said Gordon was flying with visibility of less than 1/2 mile at the time of the crash.

They said Gordon's plane disappeared from their radar screens at 3:30 p.m. while most of the ground.

The crash occurred seven miles later. Airframe Smith said the plane was very low, perhaps less than 100 feet, when he first heard it.

O'Hare officials notified the Rolling Meadows police department of the missing plane moments before the crash.

GORDON and a flying companion in another plane had tried unsuccessfully to land at Midway Airport before attempting to land at O'Hare, according to an official at Butler Aviation Co., where Gordon kept his plane.

The unidentified companion landed at a private airport after the crash.

The man took off from Midway early Saturday before Des Moines, officials said. They said the crash apparently occurred as the man returned to Chicago.

Gordon practiced descents at 11 W. Wabash in Chicago and was "known all over the county" according to an associate. The associate said Gordon frequently flew to dental clinics throughout the country.

Gordon lived with his wife and son at 400 E. Riverside in Chicago. The couple had no children.

The plane crashed in a vacant strip of a new subdivision. The only house in the area about a block from the crash was not troubled by debris.

Colorful Thanksgiving pictures created by Juliette Law pupils brightens the corridors of Dist. 59's newest school. "I am thankful for things that I love because they are nice and I love them. What do you love?"

The Christmas holidays are nearly upon us, which means that Mrs. Homemaker is probably going to have lots of company.

For the coffee - and - dessert guests, try an unusual dessert called Marquis Royale, a beautiful blend with hot coffee.

Marquis Royale, an Italian treat, contains rich viscous chocolate, a hint of brandy, and a dusting of granulated espresso coffee. Best of all, it's easy to put together.

TO ADD another bit of continental Christmas trim, serve your coffee dark and rich in the Italian style. Authentic espresso can be made only with a special machine, but you can get all equally fine brew with a regular drip pot.

Use one approved coffee measure (equal to two level measuring tablespoons) of Italian or French - roast drip grind coffee to three ounces of water per serving.

This is half the amount of water used for regular coffee. For excellent brew, start with a sparkling clean coffee-maker and fresh cold water.

Four immediately after brewing for full flavor and aroma, and you'll have the happiest guests in town.

MARQUIS ROYALE (equal parts Italian espresso coffee)

1/2 cup with 1/3 cup extra fine granulated

3 tablespoons brandy or 1 espresso brandy extract

2 tablespoons instant espresso

Combine coffee and milk in bowl and blend until creamy. Gradually add sugar and brandy. Add brandy or extract and Spoon into dessert glasses and chill.

Before serving, dust lightly with instant espresso. Makes six servings.

Head Start Lacks Funds, Classes Close

By JACK A. VANDEMEY
News Editor

Tomorrow will be the last day of school for some 300 youngsters from the Whooling-Els Grove township area who are participating in Operation Head Start.

David Fashbaker, director of the federally-financed program in the care served by Northwest Cook County Opportunity Council (NORWESCO), said that anticipated government financing of the program has not arrived.

Head Start classes are held in Church of the Holy Spirit, Els Grove Village; Ridge School, Els Grove Village; Bethel Lutheran Church, Palatine; Pattee School, Arlington Heights; and Church of the Good Shepherd, Prospect Heights.

This winter's program, a continuation of a highly successful summer program, got off to a shaky start on Thursday, Nov. 3, after about a week of suspended activity for the same problem—lack of government funds. Recently, however, when the program was resumed, it was found that the program was not as successful as the summer program.

Funds left over from the summer of 1965 were used to finance NORWESCO's early winter sessions of classes.

Fashbaker himself said that he would bring the NORWESCO office in Els Grove Village, as last for a few days. "Things could change, you know," he said hopefully.

Pilot Diverted From Midway Before Crash

The pilot of the plane that crashed Saturday in Rolling Meadows took off from Midway weather conditions and was in the air for 15 minutes before he crashed, a Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman said yesterday.

John Harrington, who heads the CAB investigation team looking into the crash, said that Dr. William G. C. Smith said the crash was a Chicago dealer and a friend in another plane left Sky Harbor Airport in Northbrook at 1:30 p.m. Saturday bound for Midway Airport where they kept their plane.

The aircraft was fog shrouded and visibility was "very, very poor," Harrington said. Sky Harbor airport does not have a control tower, he said, and Gordon first made contact with control tower facilities while hovering 4,000 feet over Naperville.

At 4,000 feet, officials told Midway that visibility at Midway was one-half mile at 200 feet and advised him it would be impossible to land there.

"They could fly in at an instrument landing at O'Hare Airport where visibility was about 100 feet," Harrington said. Gordon was flying over when he approached the runway on another morning.

He said the crash was a an mile northeast of O'Hare but his plane left radar contact about 15 minutes after takeoff. The plane was a Cessna 441, a twin-engine, four-seat aircraft. It was flying at 4,000 feet when it crashed, a Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman said yesterday.

"A nickel and a mechanic" separate the village and DuSoyne Disposal Co. from agreement on a new garbage contract.

This is the way Trustee Carl F. Moss, chairman of the finance committee, described it in an explanation of the village's position.

The mechanic part of Moss' phrase refers to a provision in the new contract which provides for a $100,000 fee to a mechanic.

The village board approved the contract on Thursday, Nov. 24, but the finance committee has not yet approved it.

Some Day

The full impact of the college-to-everybody plan (famed down to the taxpayer's pocketbook, but you can hear the ranting in the distance).

The deficit of higher tax rates in the Arlington Heights elementary school system and the rejection of a park district probably can be traced to the first bit of time from Junior College Dist. 512 that came in the 1960s.

At the time of this early victory, this is only the beginning. Land purchases, buildings, salaries, equipment and the college program for years to come. After that will come the expansion program.

People do not seem excited about the college program. In fact, they seem disinterested. The officers flustered down from Springfield and the taxpayers' anger seems to be taking the college question, believed in their district may be in the private colleges.

The private colleges, however, do not seem to be the answer. They are abundant, however, at the thought of being underfunded by the state in the selection of those worthwhile students.

The federation is busy now beating the drums for an increase in state grants to students who will then be free to enroll in the institutions of their own choice, public or private.

The federation does not oppose the junior college plan, it just wants to get out of this area. You would think that the people who run colleges would be smart enough to know when the tax money is squeezed dry.

"Sure," Steve said. "You've got to believe in what you're doing and I believe in country and western music, or call it hillbilly music."

"There's a great tradition behind the songs I sing. There's a lot of life in them. From love and hate to death and sin, they go through the range of human experience."

STEVE'S latest recording, "The Hillbillies," is a "Country Music" release by Gower Change (G.C. for good luck).

"I think this one has got a chance. If it gets some exposure, it's got a shot at being a hit," he said as he photographed a copy of the record.

Exposure is the one problem that all young singers have to overcome. It's a tough grind, the hillbilly club circuit. You work and work and hope for the big break and sometimes it comes—and sometimes it doesn't.

Nashville is the country music capital of the world. That's where the big money is and where Steve is going to eventually land his act.

Economy Runaway

Despite high interest rates, the report of the 7 per cent tax credit on new investment and appeals from the President, business will apply no brakes to the thrust of expansion in 1967.

In a survey of 2,000 manufacturers conducted by Modern Industry magazine, fewer than 20 per cent of the respondents indicated that they will definitely halt or defer spending on plant remodeling and construction.

Most of the manufacturers were even divided between those who do not expect to change their 1967 plans and those who will go ahead but may decide to defer marginal projects.

One manufacturer replied that his own firm's assessment of the overall state of the economy during the next few years will carry more weight than any recent moves by the government.

Stated one executive vice president: "We will build if production requires, regardless of the money market."

All of which would seem to indicate that it isn't easy to checkrein an economy as vast, diversified and ebullient as ours we enjoy today.

What to Do About Dishonesty

Dishonest employees are just as big a threat to retail profit as shoplifters.

This is the contention of veterans agents responsible for security at the large Radway Shopping Center in Mount Prospect.

"Employees, who asked that their names not be used to protect their identity, said that dishonest employees can cost a store's profit from loss to about one percent."

White shopping is a serious problem, especially during the Christmas season, is a situation that almost two-thirds of the merchandise stores from department stores to small shops.

Saul D. Astor, president of a management firm that specializes in preventing retail theft, said that there are positive steps that can be taken to prevent internal dishonesty.

A brochure written by Astor was distributed to all Mount Prospect merchants as a summary on shoplifting last at Radway's recent meeting.

One fact is obvious: The store with the greatest percentage of honest employees suffers the least from theft loss.

Astor says that the trick is to take every precaution to ensure that personnel are not allowed to begin with. The second step is to make certain that no employee is not placed before an opportunity to steal.

Astor recommends that stores with the greatest percentage of honest employees should have checks, credit checks, and background checks.

to their opportunity and deal from his employer.

"Finally," Astor said, "employees have the opportunity to steal and half the battle is won."

Astor points to national restaurant chains that in known for their dishonest employees and customer theft.

"But the company provides a training program for its employees in their," he said.

Astor believes that most employees are honest, but some are not. "Remove the temptation to steal and there is every chance that they will remain honest."

Employees must also protect himself against the employee who are basically dishonest, the hard-core thieves," Astor said.

Clinic Hearing Slated Tonight

The Northwest Co-operative Mental Health Assn. gave before the Arlington Heights Planning Commission tonight to request a special use permit and zoning change that would enable construction of a new state adjacent to the Juliette Law Center.

The association's announcement of the proposed building was met with opposition by residents in the area who will be represented by council tonight's hearing.

Representatives from the Ridge and Arroyo Trust have been asked to appear at the hearing to discuss the project.

Board Discusses 5-Story Office Building Proposed

The Arlington Heights Park Board met tonight to discuss a five-story office building proposed by the Arlington Heights Park Board. The board is to discuss the proposed building at a meeting of the Zoning Board of the First National Bank of Arlington.

The plan is being made for a five-story office building located at the corner of Eastman and N. Arlington Streets. According to Douglas W. Dods, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Arlington.

The construction of the building will not be connected with the bank although "some persons interested in it hold financial interest in the bank," Dods said.

Dods disclosed the plans at a meeting of the Zoning Board of the First National Bank of Arlington.

One of the reasons for the building is to provide parking requirements for the bank. Another reason is to provide parking for the bank.

view yesterday Dods said the plan was still a tentative plan.

The whole thing hasn't yet been decided, he said, and it's not yet decided whether the building will be a single story or a couple other stories.

most present parking requirements.

One of the variations involved in the plan is the construction of the office building. The building would be a five-story building.

The requirements must be met before the bank can go ahead with expansion on its main building at 14 E. Campbell.

The expansion is part of the bank's overall expansion plan. Two weeks ago it announced plans for a $100,000 drive-in facility at the corner of Eastman and N. Arlington Heights Rd.

Dods said it will be at least two months before the building plans are released.

trustee approval before work starts.

Dods said the bank could not begin work until the construction of the office building. The building would be a five-story building.

The requirements must be met before the bank can go ahead with expansion on its main building at 14 E. Campbell.

Cracks 'Big Time' Basketball

Pat Hogan Is Getting His 2nd Chance at a Dream

BY BOB CASTELLONE

Not many people can turn a second chance into a dream come true, but that's what Most Prospect's Pat Hogan has done.

When the Loyola University basketball team opens its search for 1967 NCAA basketball honors Saturday against South Dakota State, Hogan will be wearing the maroon-and-gold Rambler silks.

Hogan's trip to the big time has been a round-about trip, marked by some dismal grades, some careful self-examination, and a bit of good luck.

THE 6-7 JUNIOR forward earned his basketball career at Loyola Academy in Wisconsin as a sophomore. He didn't go on as a freshman because it was a long bus trip to Mount Pleasant after school and he was anxious to go home so he "could find around with my neighborhood buddies."

After graduation, Hogan attended St. Vincent's High School in St. Marys, Wis. He was named MVP of the team and was named to the Wisconsin All-State team.

THE LANEY center's basketball career at Loyola Academy was an IV preparation to the Big Ten. Between some bad grades that kept him ineligible for awards and the fact that his class had the front basketball talent that he did, he was not a strong contender for the school. Hogan was lucky that all of them saw him and he was not a strong contender for the school. Hogan was lucky that all of them saw him and he was not a strong contender for the school.

THOUGH THE SCHOOL was an IV preparation to the Big Ten. Between some bad grades that kept him ineligible for awards and the fact that his class had the front basketball talent that he did, he was not a strong contender for the school.

Pat Hogan of Mount Pleasant, a guy with a dream, ponders his future in the silence of the empty gym at Loyola University where he'll be playing center and forward for the Ramblers' big-time varsity cage squad this year.

EXPO/RAMA AEROSPHERE

FUN AND INFORMATION FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

UNIQUE AEROSPHERE PREVIEWS EXPO 67

The unique EXPO/RAMA "bubble" opened today at Randhurst. For the next four days, the public is invited to preview EXPO 67, the largest international exhibition ever to be held in North America which will open in Montreal on April 28. EXPO/RAMA's twenty minute show tells the EXPO 67 story of "Man and His World" through the combined talents of singers and actors, plus films and slides. The show will run continuously from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. through Sunday.

SEE THIS FABULOUS EXPOSITION OF ACTIVITY, ENTERTAINMENT AND WORLD WIDE TALENT!

In the spirit of hands-across-the-border neighborhood, Randhurst is playing host to an old-fashioned road show down-up in a fantastic setting to generate interest in Expo 67, the world exposition in Montreal next year.

The show is called Expo/Rama and it is actually a road preview — open to the public at no charge — of the 1,000-acre exposition that is now taking shape on two islands in the St. Lawrence River.

The show is being staged at Randhurst on December 1 thru 4. It is housed in a giant aerosphere bubble, a dome-shaped nylon "building" 64 feet high that is entirely supported by air.

French-Canadian singers and actors, pretty hostesses, puppet shows and motion pictures are featured.

Expo 67, the first Universal and International Exhibition in the Western Hemisphere ever given a "first category" rating by the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris, is Expo/Rama's prime attraction. With more than 70 nations participating, Expo 67 will be the largest world exhibition ever held anywhere and will make Montreal the entertainment capital of the world in 1967.

Expo/Rama represents a dramatic way to let the people of the United States know just what their neighbors to the north are planning for next year.

The Expo/Rama show has three phases. Upon entering the giant bubble visitors are greeted by an attractive, singing hostess. She reveals interesting facts about Montreal, "the Paris of the West." Color films of the World's second-largest French-speaking city are also shown.

A puppet show previewing the highlights of Expo 67 follows, with emphasis on the Soviet Union's massive $10 million pavilion, the United States' domed pavilion rising 20 stories into the sky and many others.

The final phase of Expo/Rama appeals especially to children. Highlights of La Ronde, Expo 67's 125-acre amusement complex, are shown. La Ronde is designed to be a combination of Coney Island's Thrill Coasters and Dreamland. In fact, Walt Disney is a special consultant to Expo 67 and the Disney touch is apparent throughout.

On two school days four PTA members volunteer to help keep books circulating and children reading.

Mrs. Thomas J. Klinker, cultural arts chairman of the Westbrook PTA, has coordinated the assignment of eight volunteers who work in the library every other week. Besides checking books in and out, they do some cataloging and supervision of pupils who use the library for their own research, class projects and committee work.

THIS ALLOWS the school library to have an open house policy on the three days when librarians Mrs. Judy Zink is in another school. Westbrook is a school district 37, which includes Bannock, Central, Gregory, Fairview, Lincoln, Lions Park and Summit Park schools. Anthony John Gatta is the Westbrook principal who was administrative backing for the pilot project and the approval of Mrs. Shirley Gaudreault, director of library services for the district.

Second-grader Leo Ladd knows that his brothers know best when signing out for library books. Pupils in Westbrook are taught to use the library themselves beginning in the fourth grade. Mark is in fifth.

Cultural Arts Day

Folk songs and folk tales will highlight the first cultural arts program of Westbrook School. Paul and Evelyn Riechert of the Chicago Story League will perform Wednesday, for children from kindergarten through the third grade.

The 30-minute program will include "The Loudon Noise in the World," a song in which the children join, and stories of the Great West.

Republican Women Meet

"All That Rises Must Come," a collection of recent writings by Flannery O'Connor, was reviewed by Mrs. Utaseth Hattall, district chairman, at a meeting of the Republican Club of the West. The meeting was planned to be a very relaxing one, according to Mrs. Donald Marquis, program chairman, because members had worked so hard prior to the recent election.

Four members of the board of directors were named to represent the Westinghouse Club at the Illinois Federation of Republican Women convention at the Grand Hilton Hotel, Chicago, Nov. 17-18. They are Mrs. Ronald Phillips, president, and Mrs. Donald Marquis, first vice president, both of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Frank Friday, immediate past president, and Mrs. William Klingensmith, second vice president, both of Mount Prospect.

Appeals Board Denies Holiday Inn Sign Request

Permission to construct a 40-foot sign at the Holiday Inn site on Rand Rd. has been denied by the Mount Prospect Board of Appeals.

Friday night Nathan Rakita, John Brooks and Douglas Scherbert, representing the Holiday Inn Corp., appeared before the board to seek a variation to construct the sign.

The two and one half acre site between Rand and Kensington Rd. is zoned R-3, business, and sign requirements for that type of zoning are 15 feet.

"Our position is unique and would not be in the same category because we are the only one in the Mount Prospect area. You would not be creating a precedent," Rakita told board members.

"There is nothing we can do about this because we are being denied a sign which is a unique symbol and policy. We are faced with a situation which we didn't create," he said.

RAKITA said that all of the 70 Holiday Inns in the country have to have the same sign as a symbol of a Holiday Inn and said that it would not create a traffic hazard because of the sign of the inverted five foot method because people would be able to see it from a distance and would not have to stop suddenly when they reached there was an exit on the site.

"We are spending approximately $2 million and feel we will be an asset to this village," said Rakita.

According to sign requirements for the zoning classification on the site the sign must be no more than 15 feet high, no more than 60 square feet, and must have a 30 foot setback from the road. The sign must be 30 feet high, more than 300 square feet and 3 feet set back.

PETER KETTER, a director of the zoning commission, said that the sign must be no more than 15 feet high, no more than 60 square feet, and must have a 30 foot setback from the road. The sign must be 30 feet high, more than 300 square feet and 3 feet set back.

"Serious thought should be given to the parking situation," said attorney Robert Stanton, who said he was representing the Whittemore.

"The building was leased to Mount Prospect Auto Parts and now is used as a warehouse for Weber Marking Systems Co. George Wolf, representing the Amco Transmission Shop, also appeared before the board.

He said that under the terms of the franchise only transmission repair work could be permitted in the shop.

Auto Repair Permit Debated

The Mount Prospect Board of Appeals will vote on a variation to allow the operation of a transmission and engine garage at 301 W. Central.

Attorney Joseph A. Weber Jr., representing Joseph A. Weber, owner of the garage, appeared before the Board of Appeals Friday night to seek a variation to allow the operation of a garage.

EBERT told the board that he wants to lease the building to operate a transmission repair shop which is franchised by the Amco Transmission Shop. He said there would be room for 10 cars inside the building and he does not anticipate a parking or traffic problem because of the nature of the business.

OPPOSING the granting of the variation and special use

Plumbing Variation Is Denied

The Mount Prospect Board of Appeals has denied a request by Sam Skebel for a variation of the Plumbing Code.

SKEBEL of 610 S. William St. plans to open a food carry-out business at 34 S. Main, the former Doris Kerkley Shop. At present there is only one warehouse facility in the portion of the building that will be used by Skebel.

The Plumbing Code requires separate washroom facilities for men and women in a restaurant type business.

SKEBEL said he planned to put tables and chairs in the shop for the convenience of his customers and that the washroom would be for employees only.

"Paid members felt that the tables would be an irritation for people to eat on the premises and if the tables are to remain, their separate washrooms must be installed."

were Douglas and Donald Whittemore, operators of a service station at 310 W. Northwest Hwy., and John Flowers, operator of Jake's Pizzeria. They were protesting on the basis of the parking problems already existing in their area of business.

"Serious thought should be given to the parking situation," said attorney Robert Stanton, who said he was representing the Whittemore.

"The building was leased to Mount Prospect Auto Parts and now is used as a warehouse for Weber Marking Systems Co. George Wolf, representing the Amco Transmission Shop, also appeared before the board.

He said that under the terms of the franchise only transmission repair work could be permitted in the shop.

Schools Fire Drills Listed

Fire drills in regular districts are conducted on a regular basis, the administration staff told board members recently.

Come Arzenowsky of Des Plaines had asked for a detailed breakdown showing the number of drills conducted so far this fall.

As of Nov. 17, Dempster Junior High School had had three fire drills. Forest View Elementary, 2, and Robert Frost, 3. Each school has been inspected by the Mount Prospect Fire Dept.

Robert Frost's new addition had been checked in a separate fire department visit and Fire Prevention Week was observed at Forest View.

Arzenowsky said he is pleased with the report but urged that fire drills at schools be practiced monthly. Administration members agreed.

Controllor Writes Book

B. D. Henninger is writing a book, "Henninger's Rolling Money," which, he has been asked by Mayor William Maerz to write.

His Story In Print

Robert Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Robinson Jr. of 503 S. Edward, has written an article for the November issue of the "Illinois History" magazine.

Robert is a senior at Prospect High School and the article is entitled "Last of the Wine Flies."

The magazine is a publication for teenagers sponsored by the Illinois State Historical Society. The theme of the issue is Illinois State Parks and the article is the early settlement of the state, covering the area of Central and North America and the white pine forests in the area.

He also is a member of the Y.M.C.A. of Mt. Prospect, Ill., and is a member of the Y.M.C.A. of Chicago, Ill.

Ready Restaurant for Opening

Swedish atmosphere and a wide variety of foods will be prime attractions at the new "Scando House" Scandinavian restaurant now nearing completion in the Mount Prospect Plaza.

The restaurant will open at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 29, in the center of Grand Road and Central Avenue, according to the manager Lawrence Carman.

"We are happy to bring this traditional Swedish-style food and dining to the Mount Prospect area," said Carman. "There will be lots of variety in the menu. The restaurant will be open seven days a week. Monday through Sunday, and holiday hours will be 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and 4:30 to 8 p.m. Monday through Sunday. Swedish food will be served at a fixed price, except for beverages and dessert. No tipping will be permitted, said Carman, and children under 10 have a specially lower price.

Carman added, "I'm sure the Scando House will become a favorite for families and working people."

Carman said the Scando House will be able to serve several hundred at each meal. Private groups also will be accommodated in three individual dining rooms in the future.

Two entrants are provided and customers will enjoy serving lines along each wall of the building. Four service lines will help accommodate large crowds without delay.

FINAL decorating touches are being completed this week by the general contractor, Gunderson Construction Co., of Evanston. Interiors were designed by Grand Contract Interiors, Evanston.

A massive brick fireplace or chimney is a central focal point with rough-hewn woodwork and other decorative touches. The serving lines are separated from the restaurant by glass partitions, and lighted wooden beams.

Kitchen and serving equipment was supplied and installed by Sweeney Fixture Company, of Rockford. The contractor is Lois-Bar Elevation, Evanston.

The new Mount Prospect Scando House Scandinavian restaurant is a new 11,000-sq.-ft. building, restaurants associated with a franchised form of "Swedish House" restaurants which started in Dutch and Minneapolis, Minn., in recent years.

Christmas is fast approaching in the eyes of the Mount Prospect Post Office, and to bring residents to prepare and mail their Christmas mail early, Postmaster Theodore C. Gossens offers some hints to help provide the most efficient service.

Use of ZIP codes is important and the post office can provide numbers for residents.

Packages should be securely wrapped, include return address and have a card inside with the name and address of the sender and addressee.

First class postage on Christmas cards means faster delivery and will provide for forwarding if the recipient has moved. Return addresses should be used.

Award Winning School on Display

Dedication of Juliette Low School in Arlington Heights has been set for Sunday, Jan. 8, from 2-4 p.m.

Named for the founder of the Girl Scouts, the school has won architectural honors for its unusual design.

Parents and community leaders will be invited for the ceremony.

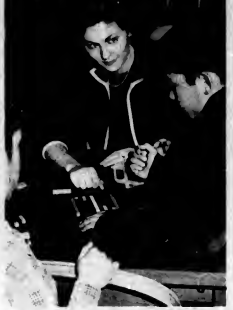

Open house at Robert Frost School in Mount Prospect will be held Sunday afternoon, Dec. 10. The school is showing off its new addition, with its Library and Learning Center.

Forest View Elementary's open house is tentatively scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 18. The Mount Prospect School will maintain definite plans through its Parents Club.

Other Dec. 29 schools in the Day area are Dempster Junior High School and Elk Grove and Des Plaines elementary buildings.

Colorful Thanksgiving pictures created by Juliette Low pupils brightens the corridors of Dist. 59's newest school. Douglas Burns, board president, looks school board members on a tour of the award-winning building. "I am thankful for my mother and my father because they love me," one paper reads. "I am thankful for things that I love because they are nice and I love them. What do you love?"

Red, orange and blue Columbus rads shown by Mrs. Judy Lowe, science teacher, demonstrate an addition problem. Children use them to work out multiplication answers and practice fractions and ratios. Boys are Edward and Thomas Schaffer, sons of former board member Joseph Schaffer who brought them along to see the school he helped plan.

A.A.U.W. Book Sale A Success

Members of the Arlington Heights Branch of the American Association of University Women made a net profit of $1,300 on their recent used book fair at Randhavi Shopping Center.

Mrs. Francis Egan was chairman of the event, which will benefit the AAUW Fellowship Program. The program provides about 100 graduate fellowships annually to women students.

The group will hold an auction at the Dec. 8 meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. in Pioneer Park. Members of the art, literature and music study groups will enter.

In other branch news, "Performing Composers" will be the topic of the next study group at a Nov. 30 meeting in the home of Mrs. Ted Meyer. Among those to be discussed are Chopin, Debussy, Paganini and Kreisler.

'My Fair Lady' Production Rates As One of Best

Two nicely dressed men sat at the Washington High School auditorium Sunday night long after the last strains of the orchestra died away. The musical was "My Fair Lady" presented by the Best Off Broadway Players.

"Now wasn't that stiff?" said one woman with a deep sigh. "It makes me feel young again," her companion replied. "It was wonderful," they agreed.

And there you have a complete review. This was a production that should have a long run instead of another two-performance weekend. The beautiful familiar melodies will remain with the audience who was fortunate enough to see and hear the production.

A good review is expected to offer some constructive criticism. The first act with its 11 scenes seemed too long but the second act with its seven scenes was too short.

Director Richard Tyler did a masterful job of pacing and pacing the act on the small stage. The chore was well done, the dancing was top, the orchestra splendid.

The idea of Midwest speech British accents sounded completely accurate and the acting was fine.

There were occasional missed lines, either because of memory or an over-enthusiastic orchestra, but they were minute and almost unnoticeable.

The only thing missing was Rex Harrison's can't play him. Wally Williams didn't meet it. Unfortunately he will be the only word to describe as Professor Henry Higgins singing "I Was Born This Way."

It was a pleasure to hear Allen Johnson as Freddy sing "On the Street Where You Live." What could resist Ellis played by Sandra Grabowski singing "I Could Have Danced All Night" with fine vocal support.

Don't be a conversation dropout. Graduate to the News.

Remember conversation? The way groupings used to communicate before e-mail, dates and runny noses took over the world?

Groupings are still art, you know. Care to repeat them? It's easy to do through the pages of the Daily News.

If the only "pop art" you've seen lately is what the kids splash on the beaches, well, break up with art critic Fritz Schuler.

If "tasteful events" sounds too much like last month's light bill, switch on Kaye Beech, David M. Nichol and other otherwise correspondents.

And if you're having trouble telling the "doves" from the "hawks," look to Peter Lazarus, our chief bird-watcher in Washington.

Grouping talk? The Daily News has got it to go to it.

And welcome back to the world.

Annex 60 Acres For New Dwellings

Arlington Heights has annexed 60 acres which will house a barns for seven children and over 45.

Half of the land which lies south of Rand Road and west of Wilson was zoned for multi-dwellings. The other half was zoned for single family dwellings.

Before the development can get underway, however, it will have to go before the Plan-

Commission to get its detailed plans approved.

A tentative mid-January date has been set for a public hearing on the matter, developer Frank O'Reilly said.

He said he hopes the development will get underway by next summer, but obtaining financial backing has become a severe problem and could cause delays.

Postmaster Recalls Back-Up Crisis

Normally, the post office has a daily 14-hour work period.

Watson spoke highly of his staff, especially Assistant Postmaster Harold Bozzelli, who was in charge of standing to the mail.

Watson has been postmaster for the past 12 years and feels that Prospect Heights has grown more gradually than some nearby areas. However, he would estimate that it has grown about 25 per cent in the last four years.

He saw a possible need for more delivery trucks and facilities in the near future. Presently, the post office has four trucks of its own and rents two more for post office use.

There is sufficient space and manpower to handle normal present needs for the delivery area which covers about 10,000 people in a five-square mile area.

Christmas presents particular problems for the post office and Watson said the regional office has relaxed in its ruling of extremely limited overtime allowances during the pre-Christmas period. According to a new directive, post offices may use up to the same amount of overtime as they did last year if it is needed, Watson said.

He will hire temporary clerks to handle the added mail volume and to provide additional window service hours for the convenience of those in the community.

Appeals Board Denies Holiday Inn Sign Request

Permission to construct a 45-foot sign at the Holiday Inn on Rand R.D. has been denied by the Mount Prospect Board of Appeals.

Friday night Nathan Rakita, John Brooks and Douglas Seibert, representing the Holiday Inn Corp., appeared before the board to seek a variance to construct the sign. The two and one-half acre site between Rand & Kensington R.D. is zoned R-3, business, and sign requirements for that type of zoning are 18 feet.

"Our petition is unique and would not be applicable to others in the same zoning category because we are the only one in the Mount Prospect area. You would not be creating a precedent," Rakita told board members.

"There is nothing we can do about this because we are being dictated by the national symbol and policy. We are faced with a situation which we didn't create," he said.

RAKITA said that all of the 70 Holiday Inns in the country have to have the same sign as a symbol of a Holiday Inn. He said that it would not create a traffic hazard because of the size of the required first floor setback because people would be able to see it from a distance and would not have to stop suddenly when they realized there was an inn at the site.

"Why can't you construct a sign that meets our requirements? If we gave this to you, why couldn't we give it to everybody. This is a great idea," said board member E. Jacobson.

"I'm not lending approval of $2 million and feel we will be an asset to your village," said Rakita.

According to the sign requirements for the zoning classification on the site the sign must be no more than 18 feet high, no more than 96 square feet, and must have a 30 foot setback from the road. The petitioners asked for a sign 45 feet high, more than 200 square feet and a 5 foot setback.

PETER Reese, director of building and zoning presented a petition of a Sept. 7, 1965 Village Board of Trustees meeting which stated that the request for the 45-foot sign petition had been denied by the board since that time there have been two ordinance changes and the final authority now lies with the board of appeals.

"I'm sure they have the same sign as a reduced form to comply with our ordinance. People could see the sign on the road either way," Reese said.

Schools Fire Drills Listed

Fire drills in School District 59 are conducted on a regular basis, the administration staff told board members recently.

Carm Artemenko of Des Plaines had asked for a detailed breakdown showing the number of drills conducted on each day.

As of Nov. 17, Dempster Junior High School had had three fire drills, Forest View Elementary, 2, and Robert Frost, 3. Each school has been inspected by the Mount Prospect Fire Dept.

Robert Frost's new addition had been checked in a separate fire department visit and Fire Prevention Week was observed at Forest View.

In Arlington Heights, Joliet and Low School has had three fire drills. Two of these took place during visits by Arlington Heights Fire Department officers.

Artemenko said he is pleased with the report but agreed that fire drills on school buses be practiced monthly. Administration members agreed.

Auto Repair Permit Debated

The Mount Prospect Board of Appeals will recommend to the village board that a variance be granted to allow the operation of a transmission and repair garage at 301 W. Central.

Nathan Joseph A. Weber Jr., representing Joseph A. Weber, owner of the property, appeared before the Board of Appeals Friday night with Max Shertel of Barrington, executive operator of the garage. Shertel told the board that he wants to leave the building to operate a transmission repair shop which is franchised by the Amco transmission shops. He said there would be room for 10 cars inside the building and he does not anticipate a parking or traffic problem because of the nature of his business.

OPPOSING the granting of the variance and special use were Douglas and Donald W. Ladoux, operators of a transmission and repair shop at 310 W. Northview Hwy., and John Hynes, operator of Jake's Pizza. They were presenting on the basis of the parking problems already existing in their area of business.

"Serious thought should be given to the parking situation there," said member Robert Stinson, who said he was representing the Village of Mount Prospect Auto Parts and for Weber Marking Systems.

George Wolf, representing the Amco Transmission Co., also appeared before the board. He said that under the terms of the franchise only transmission repair work could be permitted in the shop.

Plumbing Variation Is Denied

The Mount Prospect Board of Appeals has denied a request by Sam Schuchel for a variance of the Plumbing Code.

Schuchel, 410 S. Williams St., plans to open a food carry-out at 34 S. Main St., the former Doris Kirtley Shop. At present there is only one washroom facility in the location of the building that will be used by Schuchel.

The Plumbing Code requires separate washroom facilities for men and women in a restaurant type business.

SKOBEI said he planned to put tables and chairs in the shop for the convenience of his customers and that the washroom would be for employees only.

Board members felt that the tables would be an invitation for people to sit on the premises and if the tables are to remain there separate washrooms must be installed.

Nancy Potocz, 17, of 405 S. George, was elected by Mount Prospect Police for damage to village property Sunday after her auto skidded on wet pavement and struck two parking meters in the village parking lot at Emerson and Northwest.

The utility tax is proposed by the council's finance committee as a means to gain additional revenue. The committee has indicated that the tax would be repealed when several lots of land recently annexed to the city bring bringing in tax revenue.

"When I began my report last week, I realized that to make it more anything, I'd have to thoroughly explain the principle of municipal taxation," Heintger said.

The report, which will be presented to the mayor and the council Tuesday, is an entire course in taxation and is being prepared by the city controller, J. Edgar Heintger.

"When I get through with my report Tuesday night, every citizen should have a working knowledge of municipal taxation," the controller said. "When I started this report,"

Ready Restaurant for Opening

Manager Lawrence Curran (right) of the new Scandia House Smorgasbord restaurant in the Mount Prospect Plaza center with Arly Aldred, the decorator.

The restaurant will open at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 29, in the center at Rand Road and Central Avenue, according to the manager, Lawrence Curran.

"We are happy to bring this traditional Swedish-style food to the Mount Prospect area," said Curran. "The loss of variety to please every."

All meals will be served at a fixed price, except for beer and dinner. No tipping will be permitted, said Curran, and children under 10 have special low prices.

"Smorgasbord includes and dinners will include all anyone can eat," Curran added. "I'm sure the Scandia House will become a family gathering place and working place."

Curran and the Scandia House will be able to serve several hundred at each meal. Private groups who will be accommodated in three individual dining rooms in the future.

In urging residents to prepare and mail their Christmas mail early, Postmaster Theodore C. Giacalone offers some hints to help provide the most efficient service.

List of ZIP codes is important and the post office can provide current residents.

Packages should be securely wrapped, include sufficient padding and have a card inside with the name and address of the sender and addressee.

First class postage on Christmas cards ensures faster delivery and will provide for newsworthy if the recipient has moved. Return addresses should be sent.

Reformation Is Horizons Topic

Father Edward Cardinal, former president of St. Victor College, will be the principal speaker at St. Victor High School's "New Horizons" program Tuesday in a program devoted to the Reformation.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Father Cardinal has a Ph.D. in history from the University of Illinois. He was director of studies and head of the Catholic Youth Organization Education Department.

Four area ministers will take part in a panel discussion following Father Cardinal's speech. They are: Rev. Leon Heard of the First Presbyterian Church, Arlington Heights; Rev. Ronald Koch of the Congregational United Church of Christ; Rev. William Robertson of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Arlington Heights; and Pastor Robert Fitzgibbon of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, Elk Grove Village.

Garbage Contract Down to Nickels

"A nickel and a mechanic" separate the village and LaSalle Hospital Co. from agreement on a new garbage contract.

That is the way Trustee Carl F. Meek, chairman of the finance committee, described the negotiations closed last night. LaSalle officials, however, have other ideas.

The village board hopes the village board will be able to pay Meek said the $10,000 proposed is a cost of about 10 cents a month for each of the 10,000 residents.

Meek said he has no disagreement with "you," Meek said, "but your business and it should be reflected in your bid."

Advisory Group Hears Reports

Preliminary reports were heard last night at the Citizens Advisory Committee of school district 25 met in the administration center at South Junior High School in Arlington Heights.

Chairman of the group's four subcommittees told the committee of large items that they had requested various information from the school administration.

Ralph Chisholm, district superintendent, said that he will act on the information as soon as possible.

Novel Stephens Jr., chairman of the blue-ribbon citizens group, noted comments that the work of the group might be measured.

Firecrackers Give Home A Jolt

Firecrackers, taped to a bedroom window, resulted in broken glass and travel moves for Joseph Stropetz Sunday night.

Stropetz called police and reported that his window had been broken and his bedroom was filled with smoke.

When police arrived, they found the small explosive had been taped to the window on the north side of the Stropetz home.

No Week for Washing -- It's Hydrant Flushing

The semiregular hydrant flushing program in Illinois will begin this week at 8 a.m. on Wednesday.

Residents are requested to check the water supply before washing clothes, if clothes get stained, do not add bleach.

Signs are posted in various points in the village to inform residents of the program.

The hydrant flushing program has a two-fold purpose, to clean the water mains and to serve as a check to make sure that all hydrants are operable.

Frequently, because of the high velocity and volume of water being used, a temporary discoloration of the water supply will occur.

UNIQUE AEROSPHERE PREVIEWS EXPO 67

The unique EXPO/RAMA "bubble" opened today at Randhurst. For the next four days, the public is invited to preview EXPO 67, the largest international exhibition ever to be held in North America which will open in Montreal on April 28. EXPO/RAMA's twenty minute show tells the EXPO 67 story of "Man and His World" through the combined talents of singers and actors, plus films and slides. The show will run continuously from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. through Sunday.

SEE THIS FABULOUS EXPOSITION OF ACTIVITY, ENTERTAINMENT AND WORLD WIDE TALENT!

In the spirit of hands across the border neighborhood, Randhurst is playing host to an old-fashioned road show dress-up in a fantastic setting to generate interest in Expo 67, the world exposition in Montreal next year. The show is called Expo/Rama and it is actually a road preview — open to the public at no charge — of the 1,600-acre exposition that is now taking shape on two islands in the St. Lawrence river. The show is being staged at Randhurst on December 1 thru 4. It is housed in a giant aerosphere bubble, a dome-shaped nylon "building," 44 feet high that is entirely supported by air. French-Canadian singers and actors, puppet shows and motion pictures are featured. Expo 67, the first Universal and International Exhibition in the Western Hemisphere ever given a "first category" rating by the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris, is Expo/Rama's prime attraction. With more than 70 nations participating, Expo 67 will be the largest world exhibition ever held anywhere and will make Montreal the entertainment capital of the world in 1967.

Expo/Rama represents a dramatic way to let the people of the United States know just what their neighbors in the north are planning for next year. The Expo/Rama show has three phases. Upon entering the giant bubble visitors are greeted by an attractive, singing hostess. She reveals interesting facts about Montreal, "the Pulse of the West," "Color Film of the World's second-largest French-speaking city are also shown. A puppet show previewing the highlights of Expo 67 follow, with emphasis on the Expo's theme: "Man and His World." Other films of the Expo's domed pavilion, riding 25 stories into the sky and many others. The final phase of Expo/Rama reveals especially to children. Highlights of La Ronde, Expo 67's 120-acre amusement complex, are shown. La Ronde is designed to be a combination of Coney Island's "Thrill Gardens" and the Disney theme is apparent throughout.

A Smile To Warm Winter Season

December...stirring trips, and scuba diving
trips, Christmas trees and white covered hills, the time for giving and joy.

"I like December
because of the snow that comes with it. Just looking at the snow puts me in a warm mood," commented Carolyn Allen, Arlington Heights High School's National Forensics League
calendar girl for December.

Carolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen, 835 N. Highland,
Arlington Heights, is a 16-year-old senior and is active in most of the school's activities. She is a junior varsity cheerleader, a member of Frederick Club and Trips

the school's Junior Home

C of C Favors Parking Tax

The Chamber of Commerce executive board has agreed on a plan to ask all downtown businessmen would be taxed for the use of their parking spaces.

The proposal would end the current practice of making new developers bear the cost of new parking.

It was made Tuesday at a meeting with the city's special parking committee.
The Chamber and its agreement with plans to have higher downtown districts and Arlington Heights but it wants
"the shorter parking."

It told the parking committee that it favors five points of a seven point plan aimed at attracting developers into the downtown area by lowering present parking requirements

but it has certain reservations.

VILLAGE OFFICIALS say that five multi-million dollar developments are being held up because developers are unwilling to find space to meet the requirements.

The special parking committee set up by a city study on the problem has proposed the seven-point plan to solve the requirements.

In a statement delivered to the committee William Griffith, representing the Chamber said:

"The Chamber is interested in and concerned with the development of the central business district and it recognizes that parking is an integral part of this development."

The Chamber supports most of the committee's recommendations but this support is predicated on the state legislature giving officials the authority to levy taxes for the control of business district parking.

If no plan is provided to supplement parking lots by lowering requirements the Chamber of Commerce is opposed to any relaxation of parking requirements," he said.

The committee received the Hegarty Federal Savings and Loan Assn., who also represented the Chamber, said that they have "received considerable
encouragement" that the state legislature would be "ready."

Griffith and Donald Morton, vice president of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Assn., who also represented the Chamber, said that they have "received considerable
encouragement" that the state legislature would be "ready."

Gripe Of The Day

People who move to the suburbs and complain about the traffic and pollution in the city

the city to find parking

successor.

At a meeting Tuesday night,
DAMP authorized Chubb to

BY MEL MILES

The Arlington Heights Pias Commission last night voted to recommend that the village board deal a special use permit which would enable construction of a mental health clinic adjacent to the Juliette Lewis School.

A petition for the permit was submitted by the Northwest
Congregational Mental Health Assn., which presently operates in the Westgate Shopping Center.

The four-hour hearing resolved around the legality of the petition, the legality of the association's use of the land and the use of the land for the building of a ward and including and including to the clinic, personnel and clinics.

As Dr. Nathan launched into a lengthy monologue on the program of mental health, commissioner William Radtke, chairman of the group's housing committee, said: "You're the architect of the mental health association."

Douglas Burns, president of the school board in Dist. 39, told the commission that the school board would welcome
the clinic adjacent to the school.
"It may be selfish, but we'd like to be able to draw on the professional resources of the clinic," Burns said.

Carlson questioned Burns about the use of the land and Burns testified that the sale had been completed with the school board.

Extended window service hours will be offered at the Kaffing Meadows and Oak Forest Village Post Office branches. The new hours will be in effect beginning Monday.

Weekly hours will be from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday service will be from noon to 6 p.m. on Dec. 11 and 12.

Regular hours will resume on Saturday, Dec. 24.

of Elk Grove and Jack Carter, should psychologist for Dist. 2, also gave testimony. Both men stated that in their opinion the clinic would not present a hazard to residents or pose a burden on the school.

The most eloquent testimony on the association's behalf was given by William Radtke, chairman of the group's housing committee, who said the use in question was selected after much research and discussion.

"We did not just put up and blatantly pick this plot of land,"
he told the commission.

Radtke said that the association paid approximately $2,500 for the site. He admitted that the low price made the site attractive.

We are a non-profit organization and we have to struggle for every penny we get and we simply cannot afford many of the sites available in the area," he said.

Radtke, a slender grey-haired man, concluded his testimony by saying, "Let me assure you that hours of discussion took place during which we examined the effect this would have on the community. We felt it would not be detrimental."

ATTORNEY William Moore, representing the Baroque Homeowners Assn., is in operating remarks to the commission evidence on legal, practical and moral grounds.

The attorney who helped draw up many of the ordinances involved in the case he was appearing for.

Headstart Classes Continue 2 Weeks -- No Funds As Yet

BY JACK A. VANDERBY

Operation Headstart, the government's program for culturally deprived youngsters, is apparently on again, at least for two or three weeks in the NORWESCO area of Wheeling,
Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

David Fankhauser, executive director of the program for the Northwest Cook County
Opportunity Council (NORWESCO), said that contrary to previous reports, the program would not be suspended because of lack of funds, but would continue.

Fankhauser told The Day that he understood that the Cook County Office of Economic Development has renewed authorization to keep the NORWESCO program going.

Christopher Narbonne, assistant director of the Cook County Office, however, said that the NORWESCO program has received only a reprieve, NARBONNE said that the NORWESCO program is a part, and that he understood that the program would be continued for two weeks. At that time, when funds are returned from Washington, a new decision will be made.

The two-week grant has been made possible because there is no pay period for the teachers due until Jan. 1.

High School District Growth Rate Slows

A projected enrollment study conducted in Township High School Dist. 214 indicates that the district is still growing, but not as fast as it has in the past.

Board of Education members are to review the report at Monday's meeting from Dr. Frank S. Ladouceur, director of placement and professor of education at Northwestern University. Dr. Ladouceur has conducted enrollment studies in the past for the board of education and administrators who have been "extremely accurate."

The purpose of the study is to serve as a basis for determining the future growth needs of the district. The last study done for the district was completed by Dr. Ladouceur in April, 1963.

Enrollment data from the feeder districts including public and parochial schools was gathered and projections based on community growth were made.

"It has been assumed that enrollment will continue to increase, but at a slower rate," Ladouceur told board members.

"For the next few years, the high school will still be the recipient of greatly increased enrollment from the parochial schools which resulted from the rapid development of homes in several years ago. It appears, however, that Dist. 214 will have an enrollment of about 15,000 students in 1970-71 and about 20,500 in 1975," he reported.

Currently there are five high schools: Arlington, Prospect, and Elk Grove, in operation to serve the 65.5 square mile area of the district. A sixth school, John Hersey High School, is scheduled to open in 1968.

Officials have stated that a new high school would be needed every two years. In view of this latest survey, it may be possible to postpone the building of a seventh school until after 1970. In the past five years the enrollment of the south parochial high schools will had effect of a increased enrollment.

According to the Enrollment Study for the Forest View Variety Show "Mids," which will be presented Thursday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater, with Tom Kim Garry of 2240 Bluebird, Rating Members, who will perform a dance act in the show. The student council sponsored show includes a read of more than 200 poems and will feature an opening number with parents and faculty members as the stars. Student director for the show is Dave Cook and faculty director is Harold Petersen.

Student Council President Tom Carlson of 1183 W. Lonsapek, Mount Prospect, has his hands full for the Forest View Variety Show "Mids," which will be presented Thursday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater, with Tom Kim Garry of 2240 Bluebird, Rating Members, who will perform a dance act in the show. The student council sponsored show includes a read of more than 200 poems and will feature an opening number with parents and faculty members as the stars. Student director for the show is Dave Cook and faculty director is Harold Petersen.

The study may have as an effect on proposed transportation changes within Dist. 214 and will be dependent on how soon new high schools can be constructed.

Dist. 214 enrollment projections also hinge on the construction of parochial high schools in the area. In the past there has been about a six per cent decrease in eighth grade pupils entering the Dist. 214 high schools because of the parochial high schools. However, if total elementary school enrollment increases the present parochial high schools will had effect of a increased enrollment.

In essence, Ladouceur told the board members, there is a decreasing rate of growth in the district. This does not mean that high schools seven, eight and nine need not be built, but it may indicate that they might not be needed as quickly as the board of education anticipated.

Right EXPO -- Wrong Band

You, honor, the Prospect High School Band is going to Montreal to perform at EXPO-67.

And we might add the prospect that the Whirling band is going to make the trip across the water to the city of Montreal. No sooner was yesterday's Day on the street than the phone began ringing.

WITHIN TWO HOURS, the band members from Prospect High School were being sent word by phone for calling it the Whirling band.

But a mistake it was. An honest one, at that. So when June rolls around and the Prospect band makes its historic trip, we will remember to write 100 times.

The Prospect Band, The Prospect Band, The Prospect Band, The Prospect Band, The Prospect Band.

The Delightful Mrs. West

By Catherine O'Donnell

When Mrs. James West moved with her family to N. Arlington Heights Rd. last September, she brought along with her a trip the summer before last. The slide was so popular with her friends that she has been inviting them to schools and clubs. They describe it as fascinating trip to Africa that (said) had been to Africa.

Mrs. West is the wife of William Officer James West, who is stationed at the Nike Base. She is the mother of five children, ages 7 through 19, a teacher at Country Center School in Palatine. She is a member of the American Red Cross and a fine arts for dental.

When her father and brother returned from an African trip with glowing descriptions of that continent, she and her mother, Mrs. Hildegarde Farnsworth of Carroll, Calif. decided to go. They were especially interested in the famous hospital of Dr. Schweitzer because his daughter, Renee, stayed with Mrs. Farnsworth whenever she came to this country.

The Wests were stationed in Frankfurt, Germany, at the time it was there the journey began.

Instead of going with a tour, they went on their own. They made four stops in Africa: Cairo, Luxor, Assuan, Ethiopia, Kenya, Uganda, Zanzibar, Tanzania, Dar es Salaam, Rhodesia, Johannesburg and the Cape of Good Hope. They went on to the Congo, Cameroon, Nigeria, Gabon, Senegal, Dahomey, Senegal, Gambia, Ivory Coast, Mauritania, and back to Frankfurt.

They spent three days in Lambarene, Gabon with Dr. Schweitzer. His death a short time after their visit but he seemed well while they were there.

Mrs. West described his compound as "primitive". They watched the doctor perform an operation as a man who had been attacked by a lion. There was no running water. The water for the surgery was carried from a tank outside the operating room which had to be filled daily. During the operation a mother goat walked into the room and the doctor stopped and gave her a piece of candy taken from his pocket. A duck waddled in later and went to sleep under the table.

The patient was well on his way to recovery when they left. They learned that in 1911 Dr. Schweitzer did certain operations on certain days. Thursday was his day for hernia. Because Mrs. West is a nurse, she was interested in a burial ceremony they then on with for lunch. There was just one fork and two spoons. Everyone ate with their hands.

"Every place we went in Africa the natives were kind and nice. We had no fear of walking into a native village because they would have welcomed us with their arms at night. They are primitive but educated by modern means."

"When we got to Liberia, an American presence, we were able to spend our time in the country. There is a huge Freetown headquarter."

"We attended a native wedding where everyone sat and danced until they fell from exhaustion. Then someone would take their place. It lasted three days and nights."

We visited a peddler who had a fifteen foot long sack of native skin and in Gombya.

We had dinner in a restaurant owned by a man from Hanoi on the trip. The Hanoi was bombed for the first time. He was very polite as he explained that he was a member of his family still in the country that we had seen members of our family fighting in.

"It rained with a fifth class train in this country. The bathroom was at the end of a long dark hall but the bed was washed."

"The city was filled with Chinese and young East Germans. We were sitting at a table in the restaurant one night and we heard the young people at the next table talking about us in German. There were references to 'wealthy Americans'."

"As we left, I couldn't make saying to them in their own language, 'Good day, I hope you are enjoying your day here.'"

"One night I slipped out of the hotel and went to visit a ship dock. Someone had told me I would see a Chinese shipment of grain. I should go to the shipyard of grain and see the shipyard. We were taken on guided tours past guards, at every corner and 'brain-washed'."

"We went on to Dahomey where all of the houses are made of mud. While we were there, we watched completely tattooed women and children perform a native dance to ward off a typhoon."

"We also went to a restaurant."

Grownups are still at it, you know. Care to join them? It's easy to do through the pages of the Daily News.

Everybody Can Help Make This Fruitcake

BY MARILYN HELPERS

DARK FRUITCAKE

Fruitcake and Christmas go together at our house.

Everyone knows that Christmas isn't far away when I get out the chopping board and line the counter with packages of fruit and nuts.

Making the cake has become a family project in which each member becomes equally sticky. We make two cakes at once, and I have to let the turkey-roasting pan for mixing.

Our family fruitcake is a dark, moist one made with applesauce, raisins and lots of fruit.

DARK FRUITCAKE

- 2 cups brown sugar
- 1 1/2 cups butter or margarine (4 sticks)
- 4 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 3 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 3 cups applesauce
- 3 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon hot water
- 2 cups flour
- 1 pound raisins
- 1 1/2 cups package figs, chopped
- 1 pound currants
- 1 4-oz. piece citron, chopped
- 1 4-oz. package candied

and nuts. After the cake has baked for several hours and the stove has warmed the house thoroughly, the cake is left to cool before being removed from its pan.

We think the flavor of the cake improves with age. Perhaps that's because it is saturated in alcoholic liquors, wrapped securely in cloth and wrapped again in foil before it is tucked into the traditional cake tin.

Actually the longer you keep the mold down and add a bit of flour to the cake. Fruitcake is once to have on hand when unexpected holidays guests drop in.

CRISP FRUITCAKE

- 1 4-oz. package candied lemon peel, chopped
- 1/2 pound dates
- 1 1/2 pound package of chopped and dried fruit
- 1/2 pound candied pineapple (use same for decorating the top)
- 1/2 pound candied red and green cherries (save some for top)
- 1 1/2 pound walnuts (2 cups chopped)

Cream butter and brown sugar. Add eggs. Mix applesauce, with baking soda and hot water mixture. Add applesauce mixture to butter, sugar and eggs. Beat until combined.

Sift together 2 cups of flour and spoon. Add to creamed mixture. Mix previously chopped fruit and mix with 2 cups of flour until some of the pieces of fruit stick together.

Add floured fruit to batter. (You may use a larger bowl or pan to combine everything.)

Grease 2-quart food cake tin. Add batter. Bake at 300 degrees for about 2 1/2 hours. Remove pans from the oven and let stand right side up until cold. Remove cakes from pans. Decorate top with figs dipped in light sugar syrup. Pour as much wine or other alcoholic liquor over the cakes. Wrap each one in cloth, then foil and place in tight cake pans until ready to serve.

This Is For Swingers

If you have conventional or conservative taste in decorating, stop reading.

The information contained in this story is exclusively for the independent, the off-beat, the "swinging" few who like new shapes and way-out designs.

Kroehler, with as much as six years of design, has designed from floor to ceiling a new package called "In Group."

As you might expect, it's a free-swinging approach to contemporary living.

"In Group" brings the sculptured splendor of tomorrow to sophisticated present. It covers them in massive polka dots, shiny and wet silks and prints.

Wood, glass and metal are mixed in tables and cabinets with fresh results like a bar cart that glitters in black and white.

Setting the theme for the "In Group" living room is Ralph's "Checkerboard" area rug in black and white. It adds additional flavor to already seductive rooms.

Other Regal rugs featured in "In Group" are "Mikano," "Dorset Shadow," "Epitaph" and "Zebra."

The "In Group," which as so includes lamps and accessories by Raymont, will be presented by Kroehler at the International Home Furnishings Market. The market opens Jan. 8 in Chicago.

Conant Five Is Next For Unbeaten Cards

BY BOB CASTERLINE

Somewhat used to read Conant High School this week, but it didn't work. The $100,000 fine didn't knock the game, and the Conants are going to have to face Arlington's high-flying Cardinals anyway.

"This is the kind of game I'm afraid of," said Tim Wilson, the Cardinals coach, after last night's practice. "We'll be playing on the road for the first time in a strange gym."

Prospect Five Eyes Maine W., Evanston

By DALE HOFMANN

A kind of quiet confidence marked the proceedings this week as Prospect's varsity basketball team got ready for a pivotal meeting.

The Knights will take a 2-1 exhibition round into their Mid-Scholastic League opener at Maine West at 8:30 p.m. Friday and then travel to Evanston Saturday to meet the odds-on favorite for the prestigious Scholastic League title. It's just the kind of schedule Coach Dick Kinneman thinks his charges need.

KINNEMAN is not a man given to overstatement, but he is sure his squad is going to get better and better. The big problem right now is inexperience, Kinneman explained. "The team we started against New Trier last week had two boys in it who were starting their first varsity game and one who had started before but was in a new position."

That same five probably will go against the Warriors tomorrow everyone is healthy. The one question mark is forward-turned-guard Mike Mueller who has been nursing a sprained ankle suffered last Friday.

Mueller returned to practice for the first time yesterday and he still seems to be favoring his injured foot.

If Mueller is sidelined he will be replaced by junior Mike Anderson, Gary Andrews, Tom Lundquist, Bruce Leonard, and Dave Kinneman will compose the rest of the starting unit.

Both Maine West and Evanston figure to clamp a full-court press on the Knights and that is just what Kinneman is looking for. "We have been practicing against pressure defense every day," he said. "I hope everyone will play as tight against us. As a first press has given us a lot of trouble in two half games so far, and we just plain have to lock the more we use of it. In the latter we should be coping with it."

PRESSURE defense has been Prospect's most obvious drawback this season, but Kinneman also is chipping away at a more subtle problem. At a press it, he is trying to "tighten up" under his capers.

"It's all part of the experience. I've been talking a sense Kinneman said. "The kids are worrying about their mistakes and kind of looking to themselves. I want them to start talking it up on the court and helping each other. Some of our boys still need to get their heads on the ground and start worrying less about making a mistake and more about what the team is doing."

Lucky Mike Mueller is a doubtful starter for Prospect's varsity basketball team this weekend. Mueller suffered a sprained ankle last week against New Trier and was unable to practice until yesterday.

THE TEAM, according to Kinneman, is doing just fine compared to last year's pre-season stuff. "I don't think we played more than one good game before the holiday tournament last year," he said. "We are much better now than we were in the regular season."

Barring a major upset, the bag game this weekend will not be the Knights' conference debut, but the no-league test at Evanston. Kinneman wants of that Maine West always give Prospect a rugged battle, but the Warriors do not give anything approaching the reputation of this year's Evanston.

Three Named Books Long Ones

Three Michigan State football stars — defensive end Bubba Smith, running back George Pickens, and offensive end Gene Washington — were named to the 1966 Football Coaches' All-America team.

Frank Hogan, St. Victor's cracker-jack basketball star, fires away in practice for the Lions' game Saturday night against Palestine at home. The tilt will be St. Victor's final practice drill before opening league play Dec. 9 against St. Patrick.

Northern Ill. Cagers Face Wisconsin State

The "New-look" varsity basketball team of Northern Illinois University will open its 1966-67 campaign tonight Wisconsin State University tonight.

The 8:00 p.m. game will be preceded by an NIU freshmen Prospect Community College encounter slated to start at 6:00 p.m. at DePaul's gymnasium.

NEW VARSITY head man, Joe Jorgensen, who has spent the last six seasons as freshman coach at the University of Michigan, has his starting line-up for the opening game set. The depth of the point guard and a half have produced few surprises, with the veteran Willie Hanson (Compton), the leading scorer last year with a 19.6 mark overall at one guard and junior Bob Taylor (LaGrange - Lyons Township) at the other.

Tom Miller (Rockton-Honokong) will get the nod at center, while one forward spot will be held by Mike Taylor (Chicago - Tilden Tech, who from last year's front unit.

THE OTHER forward spot is the stickler for Jorgensen who appeared last with Ashley Hawkins (Chicago - Hickory). Hawkins came up with a hot brace against the freshmen last week and is out of action, so the job probably will go to the new recruit, Warren (Washington - Proctor) who, although a junior, did not play with the NIU team a year ago.

While Jorgensen will use the front three men on a rotating basis, probably no true center lock of overall height will fill in a problem for the Blue this year. Miller at 6'3" is the tallest of the NIU men who will play regularly while reserve Greg Slaps (Madison - Rock-Wood - Lyndon) matches that length.

TOP FRONT court reloaded by the Huskies will be junior Darrell Day (Rock Island) who was third in rebounding last year with 171, while the no. one reserve in that court will be Wayne Greenback (Greenwood), a transfer from Joliet Junior College.

Two other front court men also may see plenty of action that week forward Isaac Johnson (Rockford) and Eddie Brownfield (Crestwood, Ill.).

Demolition Begins for Library

Demolition began yesterday on two homes to make way for the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

The home at 506 N. Dunston, owned by Alvin Bury, was built in 1894. Miss Rosalie Heller, an employee of the present Heller library, owns the home at 512 N. Dunston. The Heller home was built in 1911, the same year as the Chicago Fire.

The plans for the $1.4 million facility are drafted and bids for the construction contracts are to be opened Dec. 20.

A $142 million bond issue was approved by Arlington Heights voters on Jan. 2 and supplementary bonds have been granted from the federal government.

What Delay? Rumsfeld Finds Head Funds Approved

"What delay is there?" This is the question asked by Sen. J. Edgar Hoover, Operation Head Start program in Washington.

To an inquiry from Congressman Donald M. Rumsfeld, Mr. DeVal said the answer is that as far as Washington has the program in mind, the program is functioning at full speed.

"Who said there was no Head Start at Cook County?" Mr. DeVal asked.

The answer to the question is that the Cook County Office of Economic Development has not been officially informed of the federal funding.

Charles P. O'Brien, assistant director of OEO in Cook County, told The Day Wednesday that the federal funds will come through and that the program will continue.

In the meantime, NORWESCO is the only Head Start program still in operation and this for only a two-week period, according to Narves.

time and Schenck's township, does not receive its allocations from Washington, it will close two weeks, Narves said.

Dr. Finkbeiner, director of Head Start for NORWESCO is the only Head Start program still in operation and this for only a two-week period, according to Narves.

Mr. DeVal said Congressmen Rumsfeld's office that the funds have been allocated. She has been informed to let the Head Start program be over until the end of the year.

"What's going on at the regional level," she asked.

St. Edna's Parish Plans School

A mission is expected sometime next week on the architect to plan a parochial school for St. Edna's Roman Catholic parish.

The pastor of the year-old parish, Rev. James Doherty, said he and a committee of men from the parish will consider the plans of the architect and select one of them to design the new school.

"Once we have made our selection," Father Doherty said, "it will accompany the architect to see Archbishop John Cody for his approval of the plan."

The new school represents the first school to be authorized for the so-called "congregation" since the parish was established in 1964.

FATHER Doherty said he expects the school will accommodate from 200 to 300 of the parish's approximately 500 school-age children.

"Right now I can't say what age groups will be served," he said.

He said he has been told to plan the school for first grade, but as yet he has not been made as to which grade will be served.

This decision, Father Doherty said, will be made shortly before the school opens in September, 1968, by the Catholic archdiocesan school board.

No estimate has been made of the cost of the building. Father Doherty said Archbishop Cody will announce cost figures when the first plans of the building are approved.

A FUND drive to help finance the project, which is part of a planned 20-year building program, is the donation goal. Father Doherty said.

The parish is part of a fundraising campaign to meet the $1.4 million cost of the new school building.

The parish is bounded on the south by Schenck Rd. and on the north by Duane Rd. and on the east by W. 11th St. and on the west by W. 12th St. The school will be located on Schenck Rd.

Museum Drive Drags, Volunteers Scarce

Arlington Heights residents aren't getting behind the museum fund drive, according to the drive chairman, Virgil Horst.

Horst said that during the last month he has sent 100 letters to residents, but only 28 have replied with donations.

Fund raising has not always been as difficult in Arlington Heights.

"If the war was 10 years ago I'd have been able to raise the $23,500 by myself," Horst said.

Right now the fund drive is aiming for a $100,000 goal in 12 months.

Horst said the Arlington Heights Historical Society has made arrangements to buy the museum building.

"We've got nearly 50,000 people in the town. It took me one year to raise the $23,500 by myself," Horst said.

Horst is looking for a lot of help. He is looking for a lot of help. He is looking for a lot of help.

Improvement Board Has Trouble with Dates

A politician's birthday was not the only thing that caused a little sympathy for a fellow's birthday, he joked.

Dr. Eugene Schickman will have to work on his birthday as a result of the decision.

It all started when BOLI decided that its next regular meeting date should be moved to the first Monday before Christmas. The three members present agreed that it would be difficult if it impossible to summon at that time.

ONE member proposed meeting Dec. 15 but Schickman said that would be too late. The meeting was moved to Dec. 15 but Schickman said that would be too late.

Roundup For The Day

By United Press International

U.S. Steps Up Air War

SAIGON - American jet planes attacked oil depots and transportation centers within four miles of Hanoi today. Air Force Phantom and Thunderbolt jets hit depots nearly 12 miles north of the capital, while Navy Skyhawks and Crusaders struck a vehicle depot just five miles south of Hanoi. There were no immediate reports on damage inflicted.

Today's attacks marked a step-up in the air war after a comparative lull since the double strike the greatest raid on the Hanoi area since May 29 when U.S. planes came within seven miles of the city. The client bombing attack of the war came one month earlier when American jets first bombed fuel installations near Hanoi and the port city of Haiphong.

Wilson, Smith Sail Secretly

GIBRALTAR - No word yet on those showmen talks between British Prime Minister Wilson and Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith. The two leaders are aboard a British ship somewhere in the Mediterranean. Wilson is trying to get Smith to guarantee black majority rule for his breakaway African colony.

Red China Snubs Soviets

MOSCOW - Red Chinese demonstrators buried skulls at Soviet and Hungarian diplomatic today while staging a demonstration outside the embassy of the two countries in Peking.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported the demonstrations and described participants as "hooligans."

The outbreak was apparently Peking's answer to a recent Soviet and Hungarian call for a world communist summit conference. The meeting apparently would be aimed at boosting Red China out of the world communist movement.

Preparing for Christmas

Day by Day

Revelations

By Catherine O'Donnell

It was a night of revelations when Father Edward Cardinal of the Vatican spoke on the Reformation Revisited from an Episcopal perspective.

His lecture, before a highly interested audience and a host of five pictures from different denominations, was held Tuesday night in the St. Victor auditorium as one of the New Movement series.

The panel consisted of Father Robert Plath, Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, his father Doctor E. M. Plath, Lutheran Church, St. Paul, Minn.; Rev. Louis Haege, First Presbyterian, Rev. Robert Koch, Congregational United Church, and Rev. William Robertson, Disciple of Christ Christian Church. The latter three pictures were from Arlington Heights.

"Emancipated in the present Roman Catholic point of view means that we agree to disagree," Father Cardinal said. He also said that because people are so complex that analysis of the reformation period is a strenuous task.

"There is very little agreement in history and that is the point which is a doctor of philosophy and a history professor said. He said that the modern church is in the state of a 'reformation' and that the church came into being as a result of a reformation in the early 19th century. The reformation was not a movement, it was a process, and it was a process which was a reformation of the United Church of Christ and they have done something about it. We are trying to discover a common faith in the reformation of the church."

Rev. Robertson said that his church came into being as a result of a reformation in the early 19th century. The reformation was not a movement, it was a process, and it was a process which was a reformation of the United Church of Christ and they have done something about it. We are trying to discover a common faith in the reformation of the church."

Commenting later, Father Plath said, "As we talk to each other, it is essential that we understand the parties on the other side of the table. The Lutheran Church does not understand itself as being a part of the reformation and if you want to know what it is, you'll have to call on our own terms."

Republican Sweep Is Confirmed

By JACK A. VANDERMYN

It's official. Joseph I. Woods has been proclaimed the first sheriff of Cook County.

Election results certified Wednesday by County Clerk Edward J. Berneri confirm the Republican sweep of key county offices.

Woods, who succeeds Richard Ogilvie as county sheriff, will be sworn into office on Monday.

Woods' victory is even more spectacular when it is considered that Cook County cast 2,260,324 votes. His victory percentage is only three-quarters of one per cent.

A little wider in the victory margin of Robert H. Hines, Republican, over his Democratic opponent Noble Padon for county superintendent of schools.

HANRAHAN, making his first bid for public office is against a former incumbent, Eugene W. 20,000 votes. A suburban school administrator and former classroom teacher, Hines has been elected on Dec. 5.

The suburban influence on the outcome of the Nov. 1 election is obvious. Democrats won 50,000 votes, the largest amount since the last time the city of Chicago.

Republican margin outside the city, however, was more than 200,000 in most cases contributing to the GOP sweep.

There were exceptions to this. Berneri, former secretary of the state and long-time Republican, was elected inside and outside the city, retaining his seat in county clerk by a 35,000 vote margin.

Barney, defeated Ed Egan, but a last-minute candidate who tried to parlay his one-time political prominence into a victory over Egan.

J. C. Callahan, another suburbanite, was elected to his second post by nearly 100,000 votes, ending the Democratic county ticket.

TOP Republican vote getter in the county was Richard J. Daley, defeated for reelection by 17,000 votes.

Senators, however, are not out of political picture. They will see their party candidates, but they may not see their party seat on the county board.

Republicans retained their five suburban seats, including Hines' post, and are 10-5 in the majority on the board.

While Edward J. Kucharski was a slight favorite to defeat Marshall Kucharski for the county treasurer's post, the county treasurer's party was a tremendous surprise to local political observers.

Kucharski, formerly Sheriff Ogilvie's under-sheriff and was closely identified with the sheriff during the recent campaign.

DEMOCRATS retained their two seats on the board of tax appeals as George M. Kane and Bernard J. Korman were winners over two Republican opponents, Eugene J. Carbone and David J. Jordan.

Four Republican trustees will be sworn into office as trustees of the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District, the city's regular meeting of the board.

The GOP candidates stacked up comfortable majorities against their Democratic opponents in the second round of elections. They are Alvin E. George, Ed. Doherty, E. George Thiem and Gerald M. Marks.

Democrats retained by the votes are Gen. Francis M. Kane, Earl A. Duvick, John Brandt and Frank Chiswick, former district judges.

WHILE the Republicans are at a 2-4 disadvantage on the board, it is expected they will join forces with Democratic judges, a crisis of year past helped by the Republican loss.

In another segment, Republicans captured five of seven

Leather Leads the Way

By JEREMY WATSON

Women's Editor

Everything's coming up leather.

The fabric lends itself to round-the-clock fashion this season because imaginative designers have learned to make the most of its drapability and suppleness.

A practical leather is Angora, which turns its peltion back on spots and stains, resists scuffs and scratches.

You'll find full-length coats lined in Paisley and collared in Argentine leather. There even are coats trimmed with leather after first in wrap-up, belted styles reminiscent of the 1930's.

Other long coats come in modish style with small notched collars and deep, hand-holding sleeves. And, of course, there's the trench coat.

In keeping with the current military influence on fashion, a doudouy suit has been created in box leathers, not to mention a snappy white pin-jacket and an Eisenhower jacket.

Colors are striking, especially a new deep navy called Marquise. It's baby rich.

Pastels make the leather march, too. One smooth leather is pure in narrow combinations stripes to make a blazer. Matching pants have a long stripe. And there are dresses, skirts and blouses to go.

For evening, a long, white leather gown can be a conversation piece. One by Yvonne Siffert of Albert Elton has baby sleeves and scalloped cut-outs.

Knight Matmen Top Maine

BY BOB CASTERLINE

Gary Cobb (right) of Prospect and Bob Simpson of Maine South got ballied up in their 154-pound match. They finished in a 1-1 draw.

Six wins, including one by a pin, sparked Coach Dave Ziem's Prospect varsity team to a 24-16 win yesterday at Maine South.

The team victory, Prospect's third without defeat this season, was particularly sweet for Coach Ziem, as it came in the first head-on battle he's had with his older brother, Tom, the Maine South coach.

FOUR WINS and a tie in the first six matches of the season for the Knight, and Vice Quarry's pin in 3:27 at 145 pounds helped boost them to a 19-8 win with only four losses to go.

Maine South came on strong with two wins in the final two matches, but couldn't offset the lead built earlier by the visitors from Mount Prospect.

Coach Tom Ziem of Maine South has been at the school for three years since transferring from Maine East. He is in Prospect Heights. His brother, Dave, took over the head coach's job that year when Dick Meade switched to Elk Grove. Both Ziemas also went to football for their schools.

2 POUNDS A freshman and two juniors led the Knight point victory to a 24-16 win over the War Hawk jays yesterday.

Ken Klein, a fresh 95-pound, flattened his opponent in 56 seconds. Prospect, Bob Link, a junior, pinned his 145-pounder by the elbows and wrapped up his opponent in 3:59 at the 180-pound level.

The Knights won't compete again until Dec. 9 when Deerfield visits for a 4:30 p.m. clash.

A weekly summary of yesterday's match follows.

95 pounds: Rick Beach (P) beat Tom Ziem (MS), 1-1.

Grenadiers Eye Victims Nos. 4, 5

Elk Grove's surprising victory over the Warriors last week and from the weekend with home games against Palatine Friday and Forest Saturday.

COACH BOB REES says his charges "spoke up" after last week's action which saw the Grenadiers take three out of their first four victory outings. "We're doing a little better than we had anticipated for this time of the season," Rees said.

The Grenadiers will make one change in the starting lineup they and last week. Forward Tom Fensy has been out of school with a virus all week and probably will not suit up at all this weekend. Jack Ralston will fill in for the aging player.

JIM HOFMANN and Gary Plancher will be back at the guard for the Grenadiers, while Jim Oph will be their center and John Kugel at the other forward.

Hofmann was sidelined briefly with a blister last week, but he is at full speed once again.

Prospect's varsity team suffered a rude job yesterday when star center Ted Lambent sprained his ankle in practice last night at 62, the lone Forest victory in the match.

Two college basketball teams and the Chicago High School football championship between Loyola Academy and Chicago Vocational School will be scheduled tomorrow by 11 a.m. on WFLD, channel 32.

The station will carry the Ohio-Northwestern game live on the high school football game will be followed by another tape of the Loyola-South Dakota game.

FOREST VARSITY has a new lead — a policy, but the team will make one change when he wants to go to the varsity team.

Falcons, Cats Get Ready For Old Time Cage

BY DALE HOFMANN

Wheeling and Forest View High Schools will engage in a spirited session of throwback basketball tonight on the Widows' floor.

WHAT'S THROWBACK basketball? It's the kind you or maybe your dad played 15 or 20 years ago when a six-footer was still tall and the winning team rarely scored over 50 points. You played a lot of defense then and usually won or lost on how consistently you hit the bucket from 15 or more feet away.

Big guys have spoiled throwback basketball since its heyday but at Wheeling and Forest View this year, they don't have many big guys. In fact there is only one man operating at either school who measures over 6-2, and he's a quadruplet.

There are a lot of similarities between the Widows and Falcon games that will try to teach their Met basketball League schedules on a successful note tonight.

Both teams like to run and favor a sticky man-to-man defense. Neither used defense to overpower anyone this year.

St. Viator May Switch Lineup

Coach Ray Nommell says there may be a new look to St. Viator basketball when his little Lions tangle with Palatine Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at home.

NOMMELL says he has been toyed with the possibility of shifting Frank Hogan, his backcourt star, to the forward, and using Pat Zeller and Tom Fensy at guard. Zeller would have Dan Collins as his left forward and Bill Yarger at his place.

The problem is partially due to the absence of Greg Polich from practice a couple of days this week. Polich, a 6-2 senior forward, was on retreat, and didn't return to drills until today. Coach Nommell says he's unsure he'll be ready for play Saturday night.

ANOTHER ALTERNATIVE is to start a 6-1 junior Mike Hilland. The Lions have been working on a full-court press this week, but Nommell says he's not sure.
